Full Name: Nadia Now Kim

Expected Graduation Date (Month/Year): May 2020

1. Have you previously rushed Alpha Kappa Psi? (Yes/No)

No.

2. What other organizations/extracurriculars are you a part of?

Currently I am part of BAPSA (Babson Asian Pacific Student Association), Sophomore Leadership Community, and Korean American Mentorship Program.

3. How will you contribute to the fraternity? (max 300 words)

I will contribute to the fraternity with my presentation skills and work experience from a different culture. While I was in an entrepreneurship club called Tieoff where we started a beauty platform called BeautieCall, I learned a lot regarding effective presentation slides design and skills. At our final presentation in front of Babson Professors and the VC from Mount Dream, I presented our final pitch with a brother of AKPsi, Jenny Son. Furthermore, during my internship in Tetra Pak Korea, I worked on my skills by presenting in front of the company's Marketing Director and attended various meetings. I also recognized the difference between US and Korea's work environments. Although I am still learning and developing my skills, I believe I can contribute to the fraternity by sharing my experience and knowledge.

4. How do you measure success? (max 300 words)

Success has different meanings for everyone. One may define success as financial profit or recognized achievement while others might define it as health or happiness. Instead of letting other's opinion decide what my success is, I have set my own standard of success. From small to big, I measure success by my satisfaction. No matter how amazing the outcome is, if I believe I have tried my best up to a point where no regrets are left and am satisfied with the outcome, I would define it a success. Even luck, I believe comes to those who deserve it. Put in other words, even if the outcome is what society call success, it would not matter to me. Some may regard an accomplishment a success and some may regard it a failure. However, if I am content with the effort I've put in and the result then I would call it a success. The essential part would be that I would have put in effort and time up to a degree when I look back I can honestly say to myself that I have done my best.

5. What previous experience from your past makes you feel like you relate to AKPsi?

While I enjoy meeting new people, I have always loved belonging in a tight community. I went to a very small high school where our grade was just fifty girls. The students in our grade and also the faculty members were so tight that we were beyond simple friends and faculty from school. To each other, students were like sisters and faculty members were our teachers, mentors, family, and even friends. And beyond graduation, it seemed impossible to keep that connections as we would be scattered all over the world. However, those relationships lasted and that's when I realized the importance of a community that would last beyond the physical and time barrier. That is why when I came to Babson I sought for a community and AKPsi seemed perfect. I am affected by my environment and people around me greatly. I loved how the brothers of AKPsi were a mixture of casual friendship and professional support. I hope to meet amazing people through this organization and contribute what I can give back.
