3. How will you contribute to the fraternity? (max 300 words)

I feel like the fraternity is a brotherhood that allows the people in the brotherhood to bond and support one other into business/professional success as well as success in life. I believe that I can contribute to the fraternity by adding value to the community by sharing ideas, supporting the brothers, and giving back to the fraternity. Each person has their own set of specified skills and interests that define them. I will be able to share my skills and interests to the community in a way that everyone will benefit. Regardless of how old or experienced someone is, I find it that there is always something you can learn or help out with since we all come from different backgrounds. Because I am aware of that, it is easy for me to try and find ways that will allow people to assist each other in a mutually beneficial way. I am used to sharing my knowledge with others who will listen, and I am also used to listening and understanding the knowledge that others share with me. That is what I think a brotherhood does, and I believe I can assist with that.

4. How do you measure success? (max 300 words)

I think that success varies from person to person. There is not one true definition of success that encompasses everyone. For me, success is being able to live a good life. I do not have to be very rich, well-known/famous or win many accolades to be successful. I just want to be happy doing the things that I enjoy doing, and every step I take in my life pushes me further into the realm of success. Living a good life is very subjective, and even though there are some material things connected with my goals of success, majority of it is all mental. Because of that, my vision of a good life may shift, but living a good life is still my version of success. I measure my success by asking myself if I'm happy and satisfied with how my life is overall, which includes the good as well as the bad. As long as I can say I am happy with how things are going, I am living a good life, and I have achieved success.

5. What previous experience from your past makes you feel like you relate to AKPsi?

I feel that I can relate to AKPsi because the people in the AKPsi community share a similar mindset. After talking to a few of the brothers, I discovered how we are not very different from one another. We strive for achievement in the professional and business world, but at the same time we also have our own personal hobbies that individually make us unique, and then we share those hobbies and interests with others so that everyone is able to grow and expand their range of knowledge. I have certainly done this in the past. When I was in high school, I helped mentor 5th graders, and now at Babson, I am looking to join Big Brothers Big Sisters in order to help nurture and expose people who are younger than me to new ideas, opportunities, and possibilities. I have also found myself many times having a conversation with friends, or even people who are older than I am, that gives both of us an opportunity to share our insights on a wide range of topics. It could be business, school, or just life in general. To me, I see that as the very core of the brotherhood, and that is why I can relate to AKPsi.
