

Questions:

1. Spades, Hearts, Clubs or Diamonds. Which one are you and why? (150 words max)

In a deck of cards, I would be a diamond. Sharp and precise, unlike any other suit. In the story of Alice in Wonderland, the diamond cards are courtiers for the queen. Historically, courtiers have probably been a key part of major events that have shaped the course of history. They make sharp and precise decisions by evaluating all options before advising the royalty over matters in the kingdom. I am not advising a queen on any national matters, but I share the characteristics that a diamond card in the story of Alice in Wonderland would have. I make informed decisions so that I can know that I made a conscience decision that I can stick to. Precious evaluation of an act such as taking a certain job can have significant impacts on one's life, so I make sure that I can choose it and live with it.

2. If you were a brother of Alpha Kappa Psi, how would you contribute professionally to the brotherhood? (150 words max)

If given the opportunity to join the brotherhood of Alpha Kappa Psi, I would be able to professionally contribute by connecting brothers and the overall fraternity to a rather different but unique network. Whether it is through my family, or just the people I have connected with in life, I believe that I have established a diverse network of people that I not only can call my network, but also my friends. Through my brief work experience I have been able to meet people all the way from personal trainers to English teachers in China and even Disney Imagineers. I believe that this network is valuable because of the vast industry diversity it is made up of, so if I am able to connect the diverse brothers of Alpha Kappa Psi to this network of diverse people, then there is unbelievable potential in what we can accomplish.

3. Out of all the applicants, what do you think makes you unique? Why do you believe you should be extended a bid? (200 words max)

In the pool of applicants, it won't be the soft skills or the technical skills that make me stand out, because there is bound to be another person with those exact same skills. If I was to identify one characteristic that makes me special, it would be my desire to be great. I don't know what I will be great in yet. But I know from past experiences that when I find what I love to do, I will never stop fighting for perfection. There are not many guarantees in life, but I can guarantee that I will work harder than any other applicant can imagine so that one day I will be great. That being said, I believe that I should be extended a bid. From the way that the brothers have expressed it, they truly love Alpha Kappa Psi. And just like I said before, if I find what I love to do, then I will not stop fighting for perfection. In this case, it will be working to make Alpha Kappa Psi even better than it already is, so that it becomes known far and wide as the best professional fraternity out there.
