

Questions:

1. Spades, Hearts, Clubs or Diamonds. Which one are you and why? (150 words max)

After reading about the origins of the four suits, I feel I relate most closely to a diamond. The diamond suit represents the merchant class and includes the excitement of wealth creation. Both of these are highly representative of me. I deeply relate to being a merchant as my family business is diamond trade and therefore being a merchant is something that runs in my family. The second part of being a diamond is the excitement of creating wealth. This is something that is extremely common, although I personally connect to this as I have seen my grandfather retire comfortably by strategically investing in stocks and that is the proof of the power of wealth. Diamonds represent wealth, and that is something that I hope to earn as I hope to secure my future.

2. If you were a brother of Alpha Kappa Psi, how would you contribute professionally to the brotherhood? (150 words max)

Apart from being a mentor to younger brothers in terms of advising them through my own college experience, I have had some unique opportunities, which I think I can contribute to this brotherhood. I have made several connections with professors, alumni and people working in the finance industry who are willing to provide opportunities to students. I have attended several resume workshops and have now improved my resume over three semesters, which is a skill that I hope to pass on. In addition, I will be able to pass on my experience about the benefits of being involved in certain clubs and organizations as I only benefitted through some.

3. Out of all the applicants, what do you think makes you unique? Why do you believe you should be extended a bid? (200 words max)

One thing that is unique about me is that over one year at Babson, I have grown in many ways including professionally by improving my networking skills, becoming more outspoken and becoming involved on campus. I rushed Alpha Kappa Psi exactly one year ago, but the fact that I am determined to get in made me rush again as I value the benefits a professional fraternity has to give its members. I feel I have achieved several things since the last time I rushed and that growth is an indicator of my motivation and determination to really strive and do well. I feel that my reason to rush a professional fraternity is not only to have fun but also a genuine hunger to grow professionally is the reason I feel I should be extended a bid.
