

Jaylen Bell

2/11/18

1. What are your short-term and long-term professional goals?
 - My short-term goals professionally are stepping stools for my long-term goals. I aspire to become a successful real estate investor, entrepreneur, and success coach where I would conduct seminars around the world on business and wealth creation. To work toward that vision, my current goal is to begin networking with like-minded individuals to create relationships that establishes companies and personal growth. With this growth, I will be providing life-changing advice to others through impactful seminars.
2. Based on what you know so far, how can Alpha Kappa Psi help you in your professional endeavors?
 - This organization will provide me the support and growth that I desire to be able to complete the Long-term vision that I have for myself. I believe that the relationships alone with the brothers personally will be enough to mold myself into an individual who can make an impact. I do not seek internships/job opportunities from being a part of this organization, but personal growth to provide those opportunities to others in the future.
3. If you were a brother of Alpha Kappa PSI, how would you contribute professionally to the brotherhood?
 - I believe that each individual possess a story, background, or experience that is different from another individual. However, there is significant value in that different experience and there can be more benefit created once that difference is shared. I personally have a unique background from being from Chicago, IL with my father going to jail in when I was in 7th grade. This experience was able to show me I am and also what I was capable of. I also found clarity and through receiving coaching and training from a personal development organization called Landmark Worldwide. Through Landmark's training before coming to Babson, I was able to realize that my personal background is leverage to my future success. I hope that sharing my unique experience will be enough to encourage the brothers to share their stories so that we can all cultivate an environment of personal growth through embracing individuality.