1. What are your short term and long term professional goals? How do you think Alpha Kappa Psi can help you in your professional endeavors? (200 words max)

My short-term goal would be to leave a legacy at Babson in the form of a cultural impact. I see Alpha Kappa Psi enabling new connections with passionate and like-minded people who would hopefully shape me to become a more outspoken person. Over this coming year, I will leverage this unique social network to further develop my mind as an entrepreneur and to dive into the field of venture capitalism. As I continue down this path, many years later, I would hopefully be in the position to inspire and empower other young women to follow their passions and serve as leaders in this ever-changing but also exciting world of technology and business.

2. If you were a brother of Alpha Kappa Psi, what would you contribute to the brotherhood? 150 words max)

Ever since middle school, robotics has always been one of my passions. I enjoyed building. My passion led me to become the captain of the robotics team. Throughout this process, I learned a variety of hard skills, such as computer aided design and programming. But more importantly, it made me realize the impact that I could make leveraging my leadership skills. In many ways, my leadership skills impacted the team more than my individual contribution. My background in robotics, will allow me to bring in technical insights as well as a team that strives for a common goal. It didn't matter that I am a third culture kid. What truly mattered was bringing together people from many different backgrounds who all shared a common end goal. Being multicultural and multilingual will broaden my business connections in both English and Chinese networks, something I aim to bring to the brotherhood.

3. Out of all the applicants, what do you think makes you unique? Why do you believe you should be extended a bid? (200 words max)

I am unique because I am both Taiwanese and a third culture kid. The oblique stance of Taiwan in the international community spore my interest of current news and international relations while my awkward stance around Taiwanese, Chinese and American cultures made me merge them into one of my own. Ever since I was a kid, my background taught me to fight for what I believe in, to carry on the traditions and to not reject fresh perspective. Over the summer, I had an internship at a Venture Capital as the only undergraduate intern and helped my boss host an US- China AI Summit that gathered 500 people from all over the world. At the conference, I was able to network with a diverse group of people. Being a third culture kid made me fluent in different social settings and capable of communicating with people from different backgrounds and industries while having an open mind. My background gave me a fresh perspective about the world and be accepting to new ideas and that's what I wish to contribute to the brotherhood.
