

Alpha Kappa Psi Application: Christine Choi (2022)

1). Not only are Spades the symbol for my favorite season, winter, I believe that the Spades suit is most fitting to my character.

Spades are described as strong-willed, rational, and mature. I hold high regard for logical thinking, so that I know I am making the most objectively reasonable choice that I can, given the current circumstances and resources. I make the conscious decision to build experience and try my best to be competent in the commitments I promise for myself. Although Spades can be considered to be more reserved towards themselves, I think that this common conception is inherently something that can turnabout very quickly. I have been told that at first impression I seem unapproachable, but after conversations, people understand that I am an outgoing, energetic person with genuine intentions. Trying new things out is something that I constantly find myself doing, even if sometimes a little unplanned.

2). I hope to concentrate in finance and/or marketing. As of now, I know that I am not fully professionally developed, and I look forward to finding the guidance and support within AKPsi, where fellow brothers can mentor me into the best business-professional version of myself in the finance field. I truly value the sense of community and family, as well as learning new things every day. I also love giving back to the community by doing service, as I've done for most of my life teaching what I do best, English and soccer. As a brother, I would be completely committed to all my responsibilities of the fraternity, extending this membership far beyond the average college experience.

3). I believe that I have the qualities to be an AKPsi brother. Not only do I strive to be a better version of myself every day, I can recognize my professional weaknesses and am eager to learn about how I can improve myself. While not the strongest presenter, I am able to voice my opinions and advocate for what I believe is right during discussions as well as in social settings. Integrity is an inherent characteristic of mine, as well as valuing the concept of community well-being.

In addition, whenever I discover a new passion or field that I love, I completely immerse myself in it in every way possible, so that stepping away from it I can confidently say that I have no regrets. Coming into Babson, I wanted to find a group of people that I could identify with, motivated people who can support and uplift each other to drive them forward. At AKPsi is where I hope that I can take inspiration from all the amazing brothers and one day, inspire future prospective members, like me, to come.
